TOP Athenian League club Slough have sensation-ally sacked their England centre-forward Tony Amos.

He is the third England player told to find another club by Tommy Lawrence in two years.

But Slough's great rivals, Wycombe Wanderers, soon swooped for Amos, and he should add extra power to Wycombe's already effective forward-line.

Wycombe will soon be involved in another big move—but this time off the field. For they are expected to leave their present Loakes Park headquarters and move to a new site within two years. The land on which the present ground lies is needed by the Oxford Regional Hospital Board for a new hospital wing.

VERDICT WAIT ON NEW BLUE

TONY AMOS, released Slough Town striker hurt within seconds of kick-off in his debut appearance for Wycombe Wanderers on Tuesday, hoped to see a Harley Street specialist this week.

If he couldn't arrange an appointment with Enfield physio Eddie Franklyn, however, he was to receive treatment on his thigh injury from Eric Blackman at Wycombe last night.

Amos returned from holiday and began training only a week before joining the Wanderers.

Alan Gane stood by as most likely replacement should the England forward fail to make Wycombe's home Isthmian clash with Leytonstone tomorrow. It was Gane who stood down in favour of Amos after playing the first three games for Wycombe at number seven.

Defender Ian Rundle was being treated for his damaged ankle last night, also.

DEREK TRAINS

But better news for Wycombe of other full back, Derek Gambin. Out since suffering a hamstring injury at Woking, he was expected to resume training last night.

Meanwhile Johnny Hutchinson continues to nurse the ankle trouble plaguing him for the last three weeks.

With grounds continuing so hard in the current dry spell, Wanderers have been particularly unlucky in the opening fortnight of the season from the injury viewpoint.

They maintain equal top-spot in the table however with Walton and Hershaw — both clubs claim "maximum" points from four games, having scored eight goals apiece without reply.

Leytonstone have won two, lost two, and shattered Clapton 4-1 away on Tuesday.
